EDGE Recognised as ‘Best Company to Work For’ at the Employee Happiness Awards 2025

- EDGE wins gold in ‘Best Company to Work For’ category, further elevating its reputation as an employer of choice for top talents to thrive.

EDGE, one of the world's leading advanced technology and defence groups, has been awarded gold in the ‘Best Company to Work For - Large’ category at the Employee Happiness Awards 2025 (EHA 2025), a platform that recognises companies and human resources (HR) professionals who promote happiness and well-being in the workplace. The award reflects EDGE's unwavering dedication to HR best practices, employee satisfaction, and constant innovation.

Sana Al Daoumi, Senior Vice President of Human Capital, EDGE, said: “Our relentless pursuit of excellence in HR continues to drive our successes. This award belongs to every team member whose passion, dedication, and care make our culture exceptional. As a testament to our team's hard work and commitment to people-first practices, this award further elevates EDGE as an organisation that values its people and fosters a culture of continuous improvement in HR.”

The latest HR award follows EDGE’s certification as a Great Place to Work® in December 2024, reinforcing its reputation as an employer of choice and organisation where top talents thrive in a a dynamic, supportive, and innovative workplace.
